

Public Procurement Excellence

Programme 2021

"It is fundamentally the confusion between effectiveness and efficiency that stands between doing the right things and doing things right. There is surely nothing quite so useless as doing with great efficiency what should not be done at all."

Shaping Modern Public Procurement!

As a university, we see it as our responsibility to provide state-of-the-art know-how and ensure that experts and managers are even more professional and successful in their jobs. The WU Executive Academy has lived up to this responsibility in offering a variety of successful programmes with an international focus over the years. Our main focus lies on innovation, modern learning design, and current sociopolitical topics.

We are excited to continue the beneficial cooperation with BBG and deliver an enhanced programme for public procurement. The fact that the European Commission has again agreed to fund the project shows that this topic has increased in relevance. Our goal is to continue contributing to the professionalization of public procurement by providing the international participants with current know-how, instruments, and tools on the one hand, and to facilitate the international exchange of experience among experts on the other hand.

Prof. Barbara Stöttinger
Dean, WU Executive Academy

As we all perceive, the current COVID crisis has various impacts on public procurement. More flexibility provided by the EU's public procurement framework as well as professional public procurement experts ensure rapid, efficient and legally compliant purchases of urgently needed goods. Public procurement is more relevant than ever. Lean processes, market expertise, technical solutions, sustainable and innovative procurement as well as legal expertise provide the security of supply for critical products and services as well as flexibility in reacting to new conditions.

The European Commission has initiated a second round of the comprehensive training programme dedicated to train experts of Central Purchasing Bodies (CPBs). After a highly successful first edition and very positive feedback from all stakeholders, the BBG is delighted to coordinate and implement the second programme.

Participants can profit from our longstanding market knowledge in the field of modern public procurement, our practical experience in the professional development of CPB staff, the experience of international EU projects and our tools, methods and templates used for our daily work routine.

Together with our partner the WU Executive Academy, we are honoured to support other public procurement experts in their professional development with a programme tailored to their needs.

We look forward to welcoming you to the Public Procurement Excellence Programme 2021.

Managing Director, BBG

Programme for Certified Public Procurement Experts

THE PROGRAMME

Public Procurement Excellence (PPE)

Working in public procurement means managing different – sometimes even contradictory – requirements. The public procurement practitioner sets the conditions for the most efficient and legally compliant use of public funds and at the same time contributes to socio-political objectives. Therefore, knowledge of a very diverse range of disciplines is required, e.g. law, economics, product and market expertise, technical know-how and socio-political objectives. Procurers must be able to balance all of these disciplines, in order to create meaningful tendering strategies.

To further support public procurement practitioners in performing their roles and achieving the objectives of public procurement, the European Commission has initiated and is funding a second training programme for CPB personnel.

This programme offers a unique combination of an academic and a practical approach. The goal is to provide state-of-the-art knowledge, tools and methods for modern public procurement, including policy objectives like SME-friendly, green and innovative procurement. Experienced public procurement experts from the BBG and other relevant public institutions as well as renowned lecturers from the Vienna University of Economics and Business form a unique teaching team.

Furthermore, the programme will encourage networking activities by establishing an Alumni Network and organising a module with participants and Alumni of the first programme. The Closing Conference will also be an opportunity for participants to meet with best practitioners in public procurement, representatives of the European Commission and other relevant stakeholders.
